DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group 1, claim(s) 1-8, drawn to methods of evaluating drug sensitivity comprising mu-opioid gene polymorphism analysis.

Group 2, claim(s) 9-13, drawn to an oligonucleotide and array and kit containing the oligonucleotide.

Further Lack of Unity Restriction Requirement

If Applicants elect the invention of Group 1, Applicants shall further select: (i) a single specific gene polymorphism from the polymorphisms shown in Table 4 (as recited in claim 5); or (ii) a single specific haplotype from the haplotypes shown in Table 5 or Table 8. For claims that require specific polymorphisms or haplotypes, only claims that recite the selected polymorphism or haplotype will be examined, and those claims will only be examined to the extent that they require the selected polymorphism or haplotype. Claims requiring only non-selected polymorphisms or haplotypes will be withdrawn from examination as to a non-elected invention.

If Applicants elect the invention of Group 2, Applicants shall further select: (i) an oligonucleotide from the group consisting of SEQ ID NO: 1 to 98 (as recited in claims 9 and 11. For claims that require a specific oligonucleotide, only claims that recite the specific oligonucleotide will be examined, and those claims will only be examined to the extent that they require the specific oligonucleotide. Any amended claims requiring only non-selected specific oligonucleotides will be withdrawn from examination as to a non-elected invention.

2. The inventions listed as Groups 1 and 2 do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:
3. The common technical feature between the two groups is polymorphisms in the mu-opioid gene. However, such polymorphisms were known in the prior art before the instant invention was made. For example, Szeto et al (2001) (citation CB on the IDS of 09/28/2006) teaches an analysis of mu-opioid receptor polymorphisms, and their phenotypic associations. As such, the common technical feature is not a special technical feature.

Regarding the requirement for further restriction, the different specific polymorphisms and haplotypes, as well as the different oligonucleotides represented by SEQ ID NO: 1 to 98, are different because they are composed of different nucleic acid sequences that are unique. Thus the different specific polymorphisms and haplotypes, as well as the different oligonucleotides represented by SEQ ID NO: 1 to 98, do not share a common structure that is associated with the asserted functionality of being associated with drug sensitivity.

4. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

5. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

6. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
